SURVEY STRUCTURE

- The experiences of first-year students about their studies and the quality and content of their studies were asked in several categories:
 - General quality of teaching, teaching facilities, support services, course feedback, internationality, internship, co-operation with business, communication, sustainable development and responsibility, peer tutoring, general satisfaction and progress of one's own studies
 - In addition to these, feedback was sought from the student body. These results are not aggregated in this conversion.
 - The section on student organizations was abandoned, and experiences of sustainable development and responsibility, as well as more extensive peer tutoring, were asked as new
- Experiences of the studies were mapped with statements, the accuracy of which was assessed on a scale of 1 to 10 and the "I don't know" option.
 - I don't know-responses are not taken into account in the calculated averages.
- In addition, each category had the option of an open text answer.

EVOP-YHTEENVETO

- The quality of teaching and the smoothness of study courses are declining slightly.
 - Clear areas for development are the recording of remote lectures and the possibility to give feedback anonymously.
- The knowledge and need for support services is still really necessary.
 - It is worth investing in personal guidance.
 - The message from study counselors is gradually reaching more students, but still a significant portion are still unaware of the study counselors.
- First-year students are still satisfied with the progress of their own studies and have confidence in graduating on schedule.
- Co-operation with the business community is perceived to have improved and more is also hoped for.

THANK YOU!
